Inspirational Careers at Eversafe Academy

Eversafe Academy believes in hiring people with a keen attitude towards learning, as well as strengthening our workforce with their multiple skillsets and talents, which will ultimately enrich the learning experiences of our adult learners as we serve them in various capacities across all our departments.

“And it was at one of WSG’s walk-in interview career events at Keat Hong Community Club that Richa bagged the role of a marketing executive with Eversafe Academy. “That was very good advice. I took it and that is how I landed this job,” she revealed.

Now the Creative Head in the Marketing Department, she continues to manage the company’s brand strategy and leads generation efforts.

For other mums looking to re-enter the workforce as she did, Richa advised them to continue learning through upskilling and reskilling. “No matter how confident you are and no matter how experienced you are, once you take a break from your professional world, you’ll certainly lose touch,” she said.”

Enhancing Rider/Driver Safety in Delivery Services

Delivery riders face safety risks while riding motorcycles, bicycles, and Power-Assisted Bicycles (PABs) due to the inherent dangers of two-wheeled vehicles on public roads. As the demand for delivery services increases, the proportion of delivery riders involved in fatal motorcycle accidents has also risen. In 2021, there were 41 local motorcyclist deaths, with three being delivery riders, resulting in a significantly higher fatality rate compared to overall workplace and motorist fatality rates.

Share of Delivery Motorcyclist Fatal Accidents out of Local Motorcyclist Fatal Accidents

Addressing delivery

rider accidents poses challenges as they are influenced by external factors beyond their control. To enhance safety, stakeholders in the delivery industry have collaborated to review controllable factors, and the Workplace Safety and Health (WSH) Council has published guidelines to promote safe riding practices for delivery riders.

The guidelines are categorised into three broad factors to address the risks that riders face:

- i) Create stronger rider motivation to be safe – this would mitigate any inadvertent temptation among riders to rush
- ii) Equip riders with the knowledge of how to be safe – this is because motivation without capability cannot be put into practice; and
- iii) Reduce riders' exposure to unsafe situations, such as carrying heavy loads and rushing during bad weather.

Guidelines for Creating Stronger Rider/Driver Motivation to Stay Safe

Guideline 1: Provide riders / drivers with feedback on safety behavior using telematics:

- Use on-board telematics devices or smartphone apps to monitor and provide feedback on riding/driving behavior, particularly speed.
- Engage and advise riders/drivers who exhibit risky behavior based on the collected data.

Guideline 2: Provide riders/drivers with benefits for safety:

- Implement safety benefit or recognition mechanisms to encourage safe riding/driving behavior.
- Offer incentives or rewards for drivers/riders who maintain safe behavior and have no traffic infringements.
- Establish a ranking list of the safest drivers/riders to provide a sense of achievement and future work opportunities.
- Conduct safety campaigns or roadshows to raise awareness of safe riding practices.

GUIDELINE 3: FACILITATE DEFENSIVE DRIVING/RIDING TRAINING:

- Provide free defensive driving/riding training for drivers and riders, covering road traffic rules, hazard awareness, and practical skills.
- Ensure employees and contractors have adequate instruction, information, training, and supervision to ensure their safety and health at work.
- Encourage drivers and riders to undergo training by introducing benefits or eligibility to higher benefit tiers.

GUIDELINE 4: NO PENALTY FOR DECLINING HEAVY LOADS (APPLICABLE FOR TWO-WHEELED VEHICLES ONLY):

- Allow riders to call for additional riders or split the load without any penalty or reduction in compensation.
- Establish maximum load weights based on manufacturers' specifications for motorcycles and determine safe load limits for bicycles and Power-Assisted Bicycles (PABs).
- Compensate riders proportionally for the time spent traveling to the pick-up location, even if they decline to take on an excessive load.

GUIDELINE 5: NO BONUS OR PENALTY BASED ON SINGLE-TRIP DELIVERY TIME:

- Avoid setting bonuses or penalties for delivering within a certain time per trip.
- Notify customers about possible delivery delays during bad weather to discourage rushing.
- These guidelines aim to create stronger rider/driver motivation to be safe, equip riders/drivers with the knowledge to be safe, and reduce exposure to risky situations during delivery work.

In conclusion, the safety risks faced by delivery riders on motorcycles, bicycles, and Power-Assisted Bicycles (PABs) are a pressing concern in the delivery industry. The increasing demand for delivery services has resulted in a higher proportion of delivery riders involved in fatal motorcycle accidents. Efforts are being made by stakeholders and the Workplace Safety and Health (WSH) Council to address these risks through collaborative measures and the publication of guidelines promoting safe riding practices. By prioritizing safety, raising awareness, and fostering a stronger safety culture, we can work towards reducing accidents and ensuring the well-being of delivery riders.

Heat Stress at Work

The hot and humid weather in Singapore can increase the chances of heat-related illnesses, such as heat cramps, heat exhaustion, and potentially fatal heat stroke. It is crucial not to overlook the dangers of heat stress and take necessary precautions to protect ourselves and others.

To prevent heat stress, several useful tips were discovered. First and foremost, it is important not to overexert oneself, especially during the first two weeks of work, particularly if coming from a cooler climate. Acclimatizing to the hot weather gradually is essential. Wearing loose-fitting and light-colored clothing while outdoors helps to minimize heat absorption. Whenever possible, working in shaded areas reduces direct exposure to the sun's rays.

Staying hydrated is vital in combating heat stress. Drinking at least 500ml (one bottle) of water every hour helps to replenish fluids lost through sweating. Taking regular breaks in cool shaded areas allows the body to recover and cool down. During these breaks or meal times, it was learned that sponging oneself with water can provide additional relief. Maintaining a healthy lifestyle, including proper meals and sufficient sleep, also contributes to overall resilience against heat stress.

If one comes across a person exhibiting signs of heat stroke, it is crucial to call for emergency medical assistance immediately by dialing 995. While awaiting professional help, moving the individual to a shady or cooler area is important. Loosening or removing their clothing helps improve heat dissipation. Applying cool water and using a fan can aid in lowering the person's body temperature. Placing ice packs under their armpits and groin area assists in the cooling process.

Heat stress at work has highlighted the importance of personal well-being and safety in a hot climate. By implementing preventive measures and being vigilant about the signs of heat-related illnesses, we can create a safer working environment for everyone.

Shark Bait

A marine biologist participated in an experiment with a shark. He placed a shark in a tank along with other small fish.

As expected, the shark ate all fishes.

The marine biologist then inserted a transparent fiberglass to create two sections in the tank. He placed the shark in one section and other fishes in the other section.

The shark attacked quickly but then leaped from fiberglass. The shark repeated this behaviour. It just didn't want to stop trying.

While the small fish in the second section remained unscathed and carefree. After about an hour, the shark finally quitted.

This experiment was repeated several dozen times over the following weeks. Each time, the shark became less aggressive. Finally, the shark got tired and simply stopped attacking completely.

The marine biologist then removed fiberglass. However, the shark did not attack. He was trained to believe in the existence of a barrier between him and the fish.

Moral

Many of us, after experiencing setbacks and failures, emotionally give up and stop trying. Like the shark, we choose to remain with the failure of the past and believe that we will not succeed. We create a barrier in our heads, even when there is no 'real' barrier between where we are and where we want to go. Do not give up. Keep trying because success can only happen with just one opportunity.

In life, when we come across the initial failure setbacks, don't give up and miss the success or victories that can happen anytime.
